CATHEDRAL NOTES

OPENING OF CATHEDRAL HALL.

The Cathedral hall will be opened at 8 o'clock next Friday evening, November 25, with a splendid musical and literary program by the Junior choir, assisted by the Cathedral choir. The admission will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. The door and the hall will be in charge of the Knights of Columbus. No tickets will be sold, but the money will be taken at the door.

ARCHBISHOP RIORDAN VISITS SALT LAKE.

Following a drive about the city with Right Rev. Lawrence J. Ryan, bishop of the diocese of Salt Lake, the Most Rev. Patrick W. Riordan of the archdiocese of San Francisco, left for San Francisco Wednesday afternoon. His grace, Archbishop Riordan, is on his way to his home on the coast after an extended visit in Europe and the eastern United States. He felt much refreshed Wednesday morning after a night's rest at the Holy Cross hospital, where he was taken Tuesday for a cold which he contracted while in Europe.

The Most Rev. Archbishop Riordan visited the Judge Mercy hospital on Wednesday morning, and was greatly pleased with the beautiful new institution. His grace also paid a visit to the Kerns St. Ann's orphanage, St. Mary's academy, All Hallows college and the Cathedral of St. Mary Magdalene. His grace attended a special organ recital at the beautiful cathedral at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, rendered by the cathedral organist, Miss Nora Gleason.

It was the first time the Most Rev. Archbishop Riordan had had an opportunity to visit the new cathedral, and he was greatly enthused with its grandeur. The cathedral, of course, is included in the jurisdiction of his grace's archdiocese, which includes Nevada, California and Utah. The Most Rev. Archbishop Riordan was planning to attend the dedication of the cathedral, which occurred August 15, 1909, and which was attended by many of the most distinguished prelates of the Roman Catholic church in America, but the day before he was to leave San Francisco he fell and injured his leg, which prevented him from coming here.

Next Sunday will be Communion Day for the members of the Altar Society. The dues will be collected after each mass in the vestibule of the Cathedral.

Father Sheehan, Ely spent a few days with Bishop Scanlan this week.

Mrs. J. R. Stephens and Mrs. A. F. Wey will decorate the altar Sunday.

CHILDREN OF MARY NOTES.

There was a large attendance of members of the Young Ladies' Sodality of the Children of Mary at holy communion at the 8 o'clock mass at the cathedral on last Sunday.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the regular monthly meeting was held. Work for the bazaar was taken up and entered into enthusiastically by the girls. The sodality will have the candy, flowers and punch booth.

All were pleased with the result of the first social affair given by the sodality. The dances at the Ogden were a great success. The grateful thanks of the members are extended to the Knights of Columbus for their hearty co-operation and support, and also to the patronesses. It is hoped all will come and meet again at the sodality booths at the coming bazaar.

THE BAZAAR

Last Sunday afternoon the members of the Altar Society held a special and very important meeting at the Bishop's residence. The business of the afternoon pertained entirely to the bazaar. Another special meeting is called for next Sunday afternoon. The chairman of the various committees request that people desiring to donate anything for the bazaar should hand in their names and article to be given before next Sunday, if possible. In the vestibule of the Cathedral this will be found a book, in which it is requested that those who are going to donate anything for the bazaar shall put their name and the name of the article to be donated. Please do not overlook this matter.

The bazaar will be held this year in Cathedral Hall on Tuesday, November 29, Wednesday, November 30, and Thursday, December 1. It will open Tuesday evening with a dinner, to be served from 3 o'clock to 6 o'clock. The Knights of Columbus orchestra will play during the evening and also on Thursday evening, while all Hallows College orchestra will furnish the music for Wednesday evening. On Wednesday and Thursday a merchants' lunch will be served between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock. Tickets are going fast, both for the dinner, which is one dollar, and the lunch, which is fifty cents.

The ladies in charge of the various booths are the following:

Parish—Mrs. E. F. Kaufman, Mrs. Durkin, Mrs. Farnsworth and Mrs. Langstaff.

Flower Work Booth—Mrs. J. C. Daly, Mrs. Lillard, Mrs. Burbank and Miss Margaret Gibbons.

Doll Booth—Mrs. C. A. Quigley, Miss Gertrude Hansen, Miss Mary Jenkins and Miss Lydia White.

The Sodality Booth—The Misses Ella Canning, Clara Driscoll, Frances McChrystal, Margaret McMahon and Miss Martha Plunhoff.

Children's Booth—The Misses Louise Boehle, Katherine Homer, Margaret O'Brien and Dorothy White.

Fortune-telling Booth—Miss Margaret Mulvey and Miss North.

Lunch—Mrs. O'Connor, Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Westcott. Mrs. Hughes has charge of the lunch and dinner tickets, which are going fast.

The executive committee is composed of Reverend W. K. Ryan, Mrs. J. O'Connor and Mrs. Westcott.

Finance committee is composed of Reverend W. K. Ryan and Mrs. Burbank.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

A very delightful affair of last Friday was the bridge tea given by Mrs. J. A. De Bonze at her home on Q street. The home was decorated with bronze and white chrysanthemums, and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Vaughn Paul and Miss Marie Gibbons.

Grace Sullivan and Irene Leonard.

Mrs. Margaret B. Salisbury returned Tuesday from a several months' stay in California, and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Salisbury in East First South street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cosgriff are expected to arrive at Salt Lake about the first of December to remain for a month, when they will go to the coast for the rest of the winter.

F. T. Collins has returned to the city from his ranch in Idaho.

Many friends of Mark McChrystal of Eureka will be pleased to know that he is convalescing from the recent operation at Holy Cross hospital.

Mrs. F. J. Carten returned Wednesday from a short business trip to Los Angeles. Mrs. Carten, who accompanied him on a former trip two weeks ago, returned with him.

Mrs. Mary J. Sullivan and daughter, Marcela, returned to Eureka after spending the past three weeks in Salt Lake.

Mrs. Hanson and her two daughters, the Misses Gertrude and Irene Hanson, left Wednesday for Denver, to be away some time.

Mrs. R. H. H. entertained last Wednesday a few tables of bridge. The guests, a number of young girls, were invited to meet Miss Irene McGurkin of Michigan.

Mrs. T. D. Ryan, Mrs. O. D. Rasmussen, Mrs. John McDonald and Miss Fitzgerald, who came down from Ogden to attend the Bonnemont-Young reception, returned to their homes on Wednesday.

Mrs. M. H. Kervin entertained on Tuesday at a beautifully appointed luncheon at the Alta club. The large round table was laid in the private dining room. The table decorations were in violets, and individual bouquets of the same were at each place.

Mrs. W. D. Donohue and her sister, Mrs. Alfred, entertained Tuesday at a delightful bridge party at the Donohue home in Federal Heights. Nine tables of the game were played, and later a number more came in for tea, when the hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Charles D. Rookledge, Mrs. Paul Potter, Mrs. Frank Knox and Mrs. Fred Dorn. The decorations through out the house were American Beauty roses and tall yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Malins are at No. 20 Stewart apartments, First avenue, for the winter. Their four children will remain east, where they are attending school, until spring.

Last Friday the Bachelor Maids were guests of the Misses Cahoon at their home on Sixth avenue.

WEDDING BELLS.

A very impressive and beautiful wedding of Wednesday morning was that of Miss Alta Aggar and F. O. Miller, one of the firm of the Independent Ice company, which took place at St. Mary's cathedral. Father Elmer Miller, a Redemptorist priest, who is a brother of the groom, and formerly of Salt Lake, but now of Seattle, Wash., officiated.

A number of friends attended the services. Miss Nora Gleason furnishing the music, and Miss Lockwood singing an Ave Maria.

The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Goggin, and later a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the newly married couple.

The bride wore a handsome suit of cream serge, with a large white beaver hat trimmed with plumes and carried a shower of white roses.

The bridesmaid wore an old rose serge suit, with a beautiful black beaver hat trimmed with plumes.

TO DEDICATE ST. MARGUERITE'S CHURCH IN TOOLEE, UTAH.

The dedication of St. Marguerite's church at Toolee next Sunday promises to be an event in the history of the Catholic church in Utah.

Rev. Lawrence Scanlan, bishop of the diocese of Salt Lake, assisted by the Rev. St. K. Ryan, Toolee Rev. Timothy Brennan, will conduct the dedicatory exercises. Immediately after the dedication ceremony, Bishop Scanlan will celebrate pontifical high mass at which Rev. Father Brennan will be deacon. Father W. K. Ryan, sub-deacon, and Walter McCann, master of ceremonies. A full choir from St. Mary's Magdalene cathedral, under the direction of Miss Nora Gleason, will be in attendance, and furnish music for the services.

The sermon on the occasion will be preached by Father Timothy Brennan of Bingham, whose church was dedicated but a few weeks ago.

The ladies of Toolee and the church society are busily engaged preparing for the event, and it is their intention to serve a lunch immediately after the services are concluded. A train will be run from Salt Lake to Toolee over the San Pedro, leaving at 7:45 a. m., and returning at 4 o'clock. The visitors will be enabled to visit the great international smelter in the afternoon, and, taken altogether, the event will be most interesting and entertaining.

A large number of visitors will go to Toolee both by train and in automobiles to be present at the exercises.

The city of Toolee is one of the oldest in the state, and therefore has gained much prominence by reason of being strictly an agricultural center with no particular activity to attract new population. Since the erection of the international smelter at Toolee, however, there has been a rapid growth of the city, and it is now one of the foremost cities of the state. With the influx of people naturally a great many were Catholics, and the need for a church was sorely felt up until now, and a beautiful church having had services in a store every other week, there was a determined effort made, with the result that a beautiful church was erected, which is now to be dedicated.

ST. MARY'S ACADEMY

The fear of encroaching unduly on the news columns of last week's issue of The Intermountain Catholic led to the omission of several items of interest in the report of the Alumnae Day proceedings. For the same reason the other news notes of the week were held over.

One of the little things that seemed to touch the hearts of the Alumnae and elicit their warmest expressions of thanks was the In Memoriam card presented to each one at the close of "The Book of the Lily" number on the program.

On one side of the card is the poem, "On Her Tomb," written by (Sister) Rita's Bookmark, written by (Sister) Rita, and on the other, under her name and the brief life-span, 1860-1910, a quotation from the life of one of the early martyrs, and by reason of its singular application to Sister Rita, with several stanzas of a poetical "Lily for the Dead." It is a simple little leaflet, bright and dainty in design and color, and printed for the occasion by the Alumnae.

Understand and appreciated the message of joy and congratulation which this happily-chosen theme was intended to convey. And, truly, if those who received this little souvenir only keep its lines before them, they will find its precious lesson permeates their every-day thoughts. It will indeed be for them a source of deep joy and endless thanksgiving.

It was a strange thing that the lights should go out just when they did, and, but totally—immediately after the last girl had stepped off the stage at the close of the readings from "The Book of the Lily." It was so striking that some one, absent-mindedly, stated, that it was a very queer thing. The fact is, however, that the fuse, burned out just then. Although utterly unexpected, the interval of darkness was occupied by a vocal solo—not on the program—sung by Miss M. McDonald, and as soon as the lights came on, light was secured, the final number, a chorus by the vocal students, and a violin solo by Miss McDonald, brought the program to a successful ending.

An Auspicious Event.

The event of the week, both for the honor and it brought to the Academy and the pleasure it gave to those who knew him, was the visit of the Most Reverend P. W. Riordan of San Francisco, Wednesday morning.

The Archbishop, who was accompanied by the Right Reverend L. Scanlan, Bishop of Salt Lake, and the Reverend Charles A. Ramm of San Francisco.

Organizing Student Association.

The half-hour regularly devoted to the reading of the "points" was given to the students on the afternoon of Monday, and the purpose of advancing somewhat further in the organization of a student association in the Academy. A splendid evidence of school spirit was afforded by the impassioned speeches made by several of the class officers, and the pupils of self-government, and the advisability of proceeding as far as an election of officers.

After all doubts were cleared away as to the unanimity of the pupils in wishing the good will to go on, nominations for a president were called for, and three names proposed. The meeting then adjourned, the plan being to afford ample deliberation before a final vote shall be allowed. "March this movement is working up, but the benefits to both the institution and the individual pupil are so great and so desirable that we hoped nothing may prevent its ultimate accomplishment."

Enjoyable Autumn Recreation.

The poet's sage counsel, "Learn to labor and to wait," is one that commends itself to the graduates with the force of a happy experience since their enjoyable excursion to one of the autumn-decked canyons east of Fort Douglas last Thursday afternoon. October, with its long procession of gorgeous, appa-realed days went by, each with an insistent call to go out and watch the pageant, but Duty's bond was strong, and not a many extra tasks over, and above that, many a devoted student think of dropping books and pencils and betaking themselves to the great out-of-door school of Nature herself. And the day that was vouchsafed them, as if in reward of their patient waiting, could hardly have been more beautiful. With their guests, the Third Academics, and four of the Sisters, they set forth, a gay and smiling party, shortly after dawn, and so delightful was every moment of the afternoon that almost ere they were they were aware, "the last beam was shining," and to the accompaniment of song and laughter, and with many fond farewells to the scenes of beauty that had environed their half-holiday, they hastened homeward, overtaken, however, on the way by the swift-falling shadows of the night. Kodak flashes, caught at many charming turns in the mountain pathways, will be cherished souvenirs of the happy outing, but still dearer, truer and more vivid pictures of those perfect hours in Nature's lordly mountainways under the typical eucalypt of the Utah sky, are founded on all sides with Autumn's richest furnishings.

Physical Culture.

The latest adjunct to the gymnasium department is the organization of an athletic society under the direction of the teacher of physical culture, Miss Florence Sneveik. After listening to a brief explanation of the object of such an association, almost every member of the Senior class signified her wish to join, and from this band a committee of five was appointed to draw up a constitution. With a confidence of fine weather, out-of-door sports are expected to get a good start before winter interferes on the campus, and already the promise of exciting enthusiasm is distinctly noted in the students' vith which which society and its operations are discussed.

Practical Observations of Eclipse.

The eclipse of the moon Wednesday evening was an event of special interest to the students of astronomy, who are just now engaged in the study of that interesting member of the solar system. The hour at which the eclipse was observed over the mountains happened to coincide with the study period of the pupils and the chapel exercises of the sisters, so that its first appearance above the horizon was round that the northern edge of the moon was already illuminated. From this point, however, the phenomenon was watched with eager interest by many a wonder-loving eye; and the need for a church was sorely felt up until now, and a beautiful church having had services in a store every other week, there was a determined effort made, with the result that a beautiful church was erected, which is now to be dedicated.

Art of Extempore Speaking.

If Mr. Phillips, the author of "Effective Speaking," could hear some of the addresses that have been given lately in the assembly room, he would surely be convinced that his text is appreciated by the classes that use it. St. Mary's graduates delivered by the graduates at the alumnae reunion called forth many flattering comments, while the speeches recently given at the weekly reunions by the Misses Collins, Egan and Cunningham, show that the third academics are on the high road to proficiency in this most valuable art of extempore speaking.

NEEDED ADVICE.

Every investor who relies on his own judgment, is at a disadvantage. The investment field is an ever-changing one. They who undertake to steer clear of any advice in the securities market will soon find themselves misled by the judgment and experience of a banker or other investment specialist, rarely lose. Hence the really intelligent investor will call on an expert. The same is true of securities without corresponding with or interviewing a reliable investment adviser. Even investors of long experience recognize the value of counsel and information in new fields of investment.

Call or write for a list of our securities. To you is given the benefit of our quarter of a century's experience in all kinds of investments.

CATHOLIC EDUCATORS PREPARE FOR MEET.

Fifteen Catholic college presidents and numerous other distinguished Catholic educators of the country were in session at Notre Dame university the first half of the week arranging a program for the next annual meeting of the National Catholic Education association. The local committee, posing the standing committee of the organization. Chicago has been selected by the committee as the meeting place for 1911. The meeting will open on the first Tuesday of July and will continue for four days. Sixty well known men have been assigned to prominent places in the program arranged by the standing committee.

A BOY'S PREFERENCE.

Little Roger McBride stood by the highway that led down to Chardon and waited for the big thrasher machine to go by. The big thrasher rumbled a good deal and was heavy and unwieldy, but finally it came near to where the boy stood, when the big, clear-eyed thrasher, when the team and invited the boy into the seat and asked him smilingly if he wanted to ride.

I surely would, responded the boy.

And while Roger was waiting there in the yellow highway a fine automobile came by and slowed down, and the voice of the richest man in the world hailed him.

"Don't you want a ride and a hand-ful of candy, little man?" said the voice.

Roger had seen the richest man and knew who he was, and he shyly smiled at the greeting.

"If you please, sir," he answered, "I'd rather ride on the thrasher."

The richest man laughed and whirled away, and the boy waited by the roadside.

TOOK THEM FOR INSECTS.

Woodrow Wilson, the president of Princeton, said at a recent dinner in the neutral university town:

"When all the world is well educated, as all the world will be some day, then it will be better for everybody. Some foolish people, though, don't care to see all the world educated. These people want to shine—and to shine, of course, one must have darkness."

"But that is a poor way to look at it. Those ambitious people should rather say, the more education, the more appreciation."

"There's nothing more disagreeable than want of appreciation, you know. A multimillionaire returned to his native village and erected a marble palace on a hilltop there. One day, after the marble was completed, he said to the postmaster and the crowd of loiterers in the general store:

"Boys, my million-dollar house up on the hill is simply full of Titians," the loiterers exchanged looks of surprise and horror, and the postmaster exclaimed:

"Good gracious! Ain't there no way o' killin' em'?"

OGDEN, UTAH.

Sacred Heart Academy.
(Special Correspondence.)

That the Mission has left with Saint Joseph's parishioners many beautiful and practical lessons no one will deny. A custom of the Redemptorist Fathers is to erect a cross wherever they are conducting the spiritual exercise. Very impressive was the black one placed near the sanctuary. The symbolic indeed was the white shroud which draped the arms thereof. Many who knelt beneath it must have felt what Miss Genevieve Malone, 12, expressed in her sonnet:

Beneath the Mission Cross.

'Tis dusk, the golden, glimmering light of day

Through shadows is fast fading from man's sight;

The church is dark, but for the flickering light

That feebly radiates its crimson ray.

And brightens, as 'twould silent homage pay

The shroud and cross that fervent love invite;

Its soft glow lingers through the dreary night

And gleams as bright through morning mists all gray.

Shall we in coldness crucify again

That loving God, and deeper pierce the Heart

That burns to save from sin each erring one?

Or, in repentance, Magdalen-like, restrain

Temptation's grasping arms and love impart

Unto that cross whence God will say, "Well done?"

Busy Hands.

Thoughts of Christmashide are already making little fingers ply the needle, for there is no gift so acceptable as that which costs a sacrifice.

So sacred heart girls have concluded, in many instances, to fancy work, a taste for which is cultivated on Saturday mornings especially, under the guidance of an artistic, devoted teacher.

Though persons have long since recognized this truth, that as much art may be displayed with the needle as with the brush.

Nothing New.

Sacred Heart Academy introduces nothing new into the curriculum when it emphasizes the necessity of an hour for mending. This branch of domestic economy has always occupied a prominent place in the education of its pupils, and its gratifying results are evident in the Mission department.

There is no better plan of saving for a home than a savings account. We will open an account for one dollar. We will pay four per cent interest. Interest is compounded twice a year. We treat all our depositors right. We will do the same for you.

Welcome Visitors.

Reverend M. Sheehan of Ely, an always welcome guest, spent a few hours at Sacred Heart last Tuesday.

Miss Della Green, 28, renewed old acquaintance in Ogden and visited at the Academy. Miss Green is one of the enthusiastic teachers of Toolee and a credit to her Alma-Mater.

Mrs. J. T. Smith and Miss Madge Leonard left Monday evening for Los Angeles, Cal., where they will remain during the winter months.

William Jenkins, a well-known conductor on the D. & R. G. Ry., has recently moved his family to this city. Although Ogden has not been a resident of Ogden for some years, still she has a host of old friends who are glad to learn of her return.

The many friends of Mrs. A. A. McBride will be pleased to learn that she is recovering from her recent illness. She expects to leave soon for an extended visit in Los Angeles and other points of interest in California.

An elaborate affair of the past week at the Capitol City which many Ogden guests were bidden was the Young Bonnemont reception, given Monday afternoon and evening. Among those present were Mrs. T. D. Ryan, Mrs. P. Healy, Mrs. E. M. Conroy, Mrs. T. Fitzgerald, Mrs. J. McDermott and Miss Kathryn Fitzgerald.

The "500" Club met last Thursday with Mrs. Ezra Rich, and a very pleasant afternoon was reported. When the minutes of the club had been read and discussed the remainder of the time was spent in social chat, followed by light refreshments.

The grand ball given Thursday evening by the Postal Clerks of Salt Lake and Ogden at the Royal Dancing academy was, without a doubt, the most elaborate social function of the winter season. The decorations were unique and complete in every detail, while the refreshments were dainty and extremely appetizing. Beautifully gowned ladies and handsomely groomed gallants tripped the "light fantastic" till the wee small hours began to dawn, when all departed, loud in the praises of the most successful event which so thoroughly eclipsed anything of its kind ever held in Ogden.

MISTAKES OF SCIENTISTS.

Sir Humphrey Davy's dogmatic pronouncement against gas lighting is not the only instance of clever scientists being hopelessly wrong. The early history of submarine cable furnishes two striking examples. Considered on the scientific side of the project, Faraday asserted that the first cables were made too small. Then he charged that the larger the wire, the more electricity would be required to charge it; and in this quite wrong opinion he was supported by other eminent electricians. As a result of this dictum the current was increased until the operation literally "electrocuted" the wire and the cable broke down. It was Lord Kelvin who by sending messages through heavy cables with incredibly weak electric currents proved that Faraday was mistaken.

Sir G. B. Airy submitted the project to mathematicians and arrived at the conclusion that a cable could not be submerged to the necessary depth, and that it could not recognize a signal could ever travel from Ireland to Nova Scotia.

In aviation Professor Norovich, one of the cleverest mathematicians America has produced, who died last year, declared that he had mathematically investigated all the conditions operating against the
